ABSTRACT

This is the format for the abstract for your paper. This portion of your document goes at the very beginning of your thesis or dissertation. It is neither counted nor numbered as a page. The abstract for a thesis should not exceed 150 words. A dissertation abstract should not exceed 350 words. It is double spaced. Index words must be included after the body of the abstract following the format below. Index words are key words or phrases used in your paper that would enable a person to successfully search out your document in a library or an Internet search engine. The first word of each index term should be capitalized. Be sure to indent your index words, following the format below.

INDEX WORDS: Index term, Dissertation, Thesis guidelines, Graduate office,
 Student, Graduate degree, Georgia State University
